

DMCA NOTICE AND OTHER CLAIMS OF COPYRIGHT INFRINGEMENT

Bellesa.co (hereafter 'the Website') features content originating from other websites. In order to ensure the greatest respect for copyright ownership, Bellesa curates only from websites whose terms expressly prohibit and actively remove copyrighted materials from their websites.

If you believe that any material on Bellesa infringes on your copyright, please e-mail us at copyright@bellesa.co. In the event that file a compliant DMCA notice or if any form of reasonably sufficient proof is provided that your copyright has been infringed, we will immediately remove the content from the Website. A DMCA notice should only be filed by the copyright owner or an authorized mandator.

With regards to videos, none of the content found on the Website originates on the Website. In the event that a copyrighted video is found on the Website, removal of the video will not result in the removal of the original source of the video- this is beyond our control. For this reason, we urge you to forward any copyright infringement notice to the website of origin. Removal of the content from the point of origin will result in automatic removal from the Website, as well as all other websites embedding from the source.

If a user of the Website is found to have knowingly infringed on a copyright, or to have accidentally infringed on a copyright more than once, the user's account will be permanently terminated without delay.

The DMCA requires that the notice include the following information:

1. Identification of the copyrighted work that is the subject of the alleged infringement.
2. Identification of the infringing material. Please include the URL.
3. Your contact information.
4. A statement asserting that you believe, in good faith, that your copyright is being infringed.
5. A statement swearing, under penalty of perjury, that you are the copyright owner or that you are legally authorized to act on the copyright owner's behalf with respect to the specific subject of the claim.
6. All the above signed electronically.